Your zine should have text, images and original content.

The collage consists of 25 book covers arranged in a grid-like fashion on a teal background. The covers are diverse in style and theme, reflecting the variety within the 'Grave Plots' series. Notable titles include 'Is the Inter-Net Down?' (featuring a computer monitor and a skull), 'Black Seeds' (a minimalist white cover with black text), 'Ten Bullets' (a white cover with a black border and the title in red), 'Grave Plots' (a dark cover with a white skull and the title in large, bold letters), 'Swiss Hippies' (a white cover with a red cross and the title in black), 'Men Burning in Hell' (a red cover with the title in large, bold letters), 'The River Knows What Us' (a green cover with a close-up of a face), and 'Cells Got Tin Joo' (a cover with a sun-like graphic). The author's name 'R.A. RABE' is prominently displayed on several covers, including 'Grave Plots', 'Swiss Hippies', and 'Men Burning in Hell'. The overall aesthetic is a mix of horror, sci-fi, and social commentary, with a focus on visual impact and thematic elements.
